

Philosophy of the City Summer Colloquium 2018: Technology and the City

Venue:

University of Twente (NL)
Conferentie Hotel Drienerburgh
<http://www.drienerburgh.nl/>

Monday, June 11, 2018

09:30 Opening

10:00 Local keynote 1: Philip Brey (University of Twente)
Technological Transformations of the City and Its Functions

11:00 Hans Voordijk (University of Twente) and Steven Dorrestijn (Saxion Enschede):
Smart City Technologies and Figures of Technical Mediation

12:00 Lunch

13:00 David Murakami Wood (Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario):
Can there be genuine human flourishing in the data-driven smart city?

14:00 Brandt Dainow (Maynooth University, Ireland):
Binding the smart city human-digital system with communicative processes

15:00 Coffee break

15:30 Thilo Schaefer (University of Toronto):
Sidewalk sensors: the implications of modern technology for urban public space

16:30 Bart van der Sloot (Tilburg University) and Marjolein Lanzing (TU Eindhoven):
Living Laboratories: Watching and Changing the Behavior of Smart Citizens

17:30 Roundtable: Reflection on day 1

Tuesday, June 12, 2018

Track A

- 09:00 Steven Vogel (Denison University, Granville, OH):
'Let's Look Under the City': On the Hiddenness of Infrastructure
- 10:00 Mark Thomas Young (University of Bergen):
Invisible Structures - Maintenance, Repair and the Experience of Infrastructure
- 11:00 Coffee Break
- 11:30 Jonathan Maskit (Denison University, Granville, OH):
"The Accursed Share": Cyclists and Traffic Controls
- 12:30 Lunch
- 14:00 Shane Epting (University of Nevada Las Vegas):
Urban Infrastructure and the Problem of Moral Praise
- 15:00 Gerald J. Erion (Medaille College, Buffalo, NY):
The City as Medium: Marshall McLuhan and Urbanist Philosophy
- 16:00 Coffee Break

Track B

- 09:30 Master students' panel 1
- Selen Eren (University of Twente):
The Techno-Political Order of Smart Cities: An analysis through the Arendtian understanding of politics
- 10:00 McKay Holland (Georgetown University, Washington, DC):
Urban Social Ecology: Constructing Niches to Promote Possibilities
- 11:00 Coffee Break
- 11:30 Margoth González Woge (University of Twente):
Smart Environments - Exploring the Relevance of a High-Tech World
- 12:30 Lunch
- 14:00 Master students' panel 2
- Lorenzo Olivieri (University of Twente):

Smart cities and the colonization of everyday life: playful moments for the information cage

Denise Suzanne Antoinette Maria Op den Kamp (University of Twente):
Smart Infrastructure – A Research on the shaping agency of the WiFi sensors project in Enschede

15:00 Taylor Stone (TU Delft):
Towards a Darker Future? Designing Environmental Values into the Next Generation of Streetlights

16:00 Coffee Break

Public keynote lecture

The public keynote will take place in the Designlab (Room IDEATE).

17:00 Ekim Tan (Play the City, Amsterdam):
Play to plan

Wednesday, June 13, 2018

09:00 Local keynote 2: Peter-Paul Verbeek (University of Twente):
Technopolis and technopolitics: smart cities and the digitalization of democracy

10:00 Udo Pesch (TU Delft):
The Relevance of Arendt's Work for Understanding Public Space

11:00 Coffee break

11:30 Ryan Mitchell Wittingslow (University of Groningen):
Authenticity and the „Authentic City“

12:30 Lunch

14:00 Marcel Müller (University of Darmstadt):
The Concept of 'Lifeworld' in Philosophy of Technology

15:00 Milos Mladenovic (Aalto University, Helsinki):
Explicating hidden moral dilemmas of self-driving vehicle technology development

16:00 Coffee break

16:30 Sanna Lehtinen & Vesa Vihanninjoki (University of Helsinki):
Aesthetic Perspectives to New Urban Technologies – Conceptualizing and Evaluating the Technology-Driven Changes in the Urban Experience

17:30 Closing of the conference

Last update: May 2, 2018. Program is subject to change.